2. With regard to the language, all the elements marked above were available or furnished to this Authority in the language in which the international application was filed, unless otherwise indicated under this item.

These elements were available or furnished to this Authority in the following language: , which is:

- ☐ the language of a translation furnished for the purposes of the international search (under Rule 23.1(b)).
- ☐ the language of publication of the international application (under Rule 48.3(b)).
- ☐ the language of a translation furnished for the purposes of international preliminary examination (under Rule 55.2 and/or 55.3).
3. With regard to any nucleotide and/or amino acid sequence disclosed in the international application, the international preliminary examination was carried out on the basis of the sequence listing:
- ☐ contained in the international application in written form.
- ☐ filed together with the international application in computer readable form.
- ☐ furnished subsequently to this Authority in written form.
- ☐ furnished subsequently to this Authority in computer readable form.
- ☐ The statement that the subsequently furnished written sequence listing does not go beyond the disclosure in the international application as filed has been furnished.
- ☐ The statement that the information recorded in computer readable form is identical to the written sequence listing has been furnished.

4. The amendments have resulted in the cancellation of:

- ☐ the description, pages:
- ☐ the claims, Nos.:
- ☐ the drawings, sheets:

Re Item V

Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

The claimed invention concerns a method of recording an optically variable security device. The closest prior art is of the type of D1, WO 94/24615. According to D1 an aperture (baffle 24 in Figure 3b) is moved between different exposures such that different part of the recording medium are exposed. The present invention differs in that only one exposure step is needed, because the aperture is structured and located such that different parts of the object are imaged on to respective different, non-overlapping parts of the record medium. Therefore novelty is acknowledged.

The problem to be solved by the present invention is to reduce the number of the exposures that are necessary. Since none of the prior art documents on file hints at the claimed solution of this problem, an inventive step is acknowledged as well.
